

AMENDMENTS TO THE SPECIFICATION

Page 21, lines 20-23:

The invention is embodied as a method, an apparatus and a computer program product, comprising a tangible medium with computer-readable code embodied thereon. Implementation of the invention is accomplished by means of conventional methods of computer programming using one or more commonly known programming languages.